

Good morning everyone, especially to our dear English teacher, Sir Vlads. I am Nayeli Kate E. Arabe.

Today, I will talk about how to compare and contrast a statement.

To compare means finding similarities, while to contrast means pointing out differences. When you do both, you show deeper understanding.

For example: "While cats and dogs are both common pets, they differ in social behavior and training needs."

To make strong compare and contrast statements, go beyond the obvious. Focus on purpose, structure, traits, or impact. Remember, it's not just about facts—it's about showing relationships in a meaningful way.

Thank you, and that's all po!
